DETAILED ACTION

Acknowledgement of Papers Received: Request for Continued Examination dated 7/28/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. Claims 1-6 and 8-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ludwig et al (USPN 5,427,798) and Baker et al (Re 33,994). The claims are drawn to a controlled release composition comprising a core, which comprises a carrier and an aminoketone antidepressant.

4. Ludwig discloses a controlled sustained release tablet having at least one-year shelf life and containing bupropion hydrochloride (Abstract). The reference discloses bupropion hydrochloride, hydroxypropyl methylcellulose in a tablet form (examples 1-3). What is lacking is a disclosure of a further polymers recited in claim 5. Baker however discloses a controlled release formulation comprising ethylcellulose and bupropion hydrochloride (col. 3, lin. 5). A skilled artisan would have been motivated to include the ethylcellulose of Baker in order to impart the controlled release properties on the formulation.

5. The claims upon amendment recite that the formulation is extruded; yet the final tablet remains a core comprising a carrier, polymer and drug. This formulation is disclosed in the prior art. It is the position of the examiner that there exists no patentable distinction between the products of the prior art and those of the claims, since the final product comprises the same essential component and completes the same tasks. Applicant is invited to provide evidence to a patentable distinction between the products of the claims and that of the prior art.

6. The Office does not have the facilities for examining and comparing applicant's product with the product of the prior art in order to establish that the product of the prior art does not possess the same material structural and functional characteristics of the claimed product. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the burden is upon the applicant to prove that the claimed products are functionally different than those taught by the prior art and to establish patentable differences. See Ex parte Phillips, 28 U.S.P.Q.2d 1302, 1303 (PTO Bd. Pat. App. & Int. 1993), Ex parte Gray, 10 USPQ2d 1922, 1923 (PTO Bd. Pat. App. & Int.) and In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 195 USPQ 430 (CCPA 1977).

7. With these things in mind one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to include the ethylcellulose of Baker into the formulation of Ludwig in order to impart further controlled release properties onto the formulation. It would have been obvious since Baker and Ludwig teach controlled release of the same drug. It would have been obvious to combine these teachings and suggestions with an expected result of a controlled release formulation of bupropion hydrochloride.
